Hi All,

Last Thursday night, as per usual, I attended a Town Board Work Session.

The meeting was fairly civilized in part due to a torrid temperature of around 95 degrees so that most (myself included) were too drowsy to act-out. Supervisor Dunford was pretty amusing when he mentioned this at meeting's end. Apparently the Civic Center's new burner is almost too efficient- either that or the thermostat is on the fritz.

The highlight for me was an actual discussion of the landfill capping. This item seems to be plodding (plodding being the operative word) along but lo and behold we do have conditional approval from the DEC... at least for Phase 1. Mazel Tov!

For those fans of barn demolition the barn near Rocky Dell Farm (Doansburg Road) will be trashed sometime in the near future. To the Board's credit at least this barn razing got some advance PR.

The most enlightening part of the meeting came when town engineer, Tom Fenton, was leaving and the Supervisor said he'd see him next week. Mr. Fenton retorted that 'Oh right, we're going to meet with the DOT'. Oops, apparently this was a fun fact that was supposed to remain a secret. I'm guessing it's re. Route 22. Shhhhhhhhhh.

As always the snippy comments and observations, both above and below, are my own jaded take on life in Southeast. And as always they reflect no one else's opinions but my own.

Agenda:

1. Historic Sites Commission- Strazza Subdivision, Doansburg Road

Town Engineer, Tom Fenton, gave a brief report on the condition of the barn. Half the barn has conventional framing- there is some original 'post and beam'. Some 'block foundation' which is also more modern. The roof is leaking. Supervisor Dunford
